

To whom it may concern:

For the love of God and country save us from those obnoxious, self-important types that don't think they can go an hour without phone contact! And those that forget, YOU DON'T HAVE TO YELL to be heard. I fly every week, on planes full of business people and others. The close quarters, the ambient noise level, and the cacophony of voices that will result will be unbearable.

As a business person that relies heavily on a cell phone to conduct business, I can tell you that I've never lost a sale because someone had to leave me a message.

Please don't take away the last place on Earth that we are free from this kind of annoyance.
